

Many Victims Survived Impact But Suffocated, Tests On Recruits Show

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The impact of Wednesday night's Imperial Airlines Constellation crash which killed 77 persons "didn't seem like hardly anything," the surviving pilot said Friday.

Ronald H. Conway, 29, skipper of the plane, told newsmen his crippled craft was limping in for an emergency landing at Richmond's Byrd Field with two of its four engines out, another losing power fast, and a balky nose-wheel.

"Get on it with me, Ronnie," he said his copilot James Greenlee called out as the plane started to settle.

Greenlee had been flying the ship and Conway grabbed his controls also. The two of them fought to keep the sinking airliner in flight to make the runway at Byrd Field, but it pancaked into a marshy woodland two miles short of the airfield.

In the fiery crash—survived only by Conway and his flight engineer—most of the victims survived the impact to die in the smoke and flames, a state medical examiner said.

Tests Disclose

Blood tests run on 40 of 45 of the victims' bodies indicate they died of suffocation, said Dr. H. H. Karnitschnig, acting Virginia chief medical examiner. About 65 autopsies have been completed, he said.

Karnitschnig said arm and leg fractures found on the bodies could have resulted from injuries in the panic to escape the burning plane. Many bodies, he said, were in a jumble, caused either by the force of the crash or in a rush to escape.

Fourteen of the 74 Army men and the stewardess Linda Johns of Miami have been identified, Karnitschnig said. The grim job is continuing in a temporary morgue.

All the Army personnel and three of the five crew members died in the crash. Only Conway and the flight engineer, William Poythress, 31, of Miami, survived.

Conway said he and Greenlee were struggling to keep the stricken plane in the air but its two remaining engines—one faltering—proved insufficient to carry it the additional distance to the runway.

Feel Problem

The pilot estimated that about 30 miles northwest of Richmond, Poythress said he "had fuel warning lights in No. 3 and 4 engines, which indicated we had a fuel problem of some sort."

Poythress and Greenlee, "tried everything they knew to try to get the engines going again," said Conway. "I finally told them to better concentrate on one at a time. We shut down No. 3 engine so they could concentrate on the No. 4."

Conway, of West Hollywood, Fla., said he saw the lights from the city of Richmond and called

Fire Damages French Liner 'Liberte' Sails For Last Time

FIRE caused by a clogged-up chimney caused slight damage to the Christian and Missionary Alliance Tabernacle at 36 N. Third St., Stroudsburg, at 9:15 p.m. yesterday.

Asst. Chief Millard Marsh said the blaze spread to the partitions in the north wall of the frame structure. Firemen were at the scene for about 20 minutes.

Services were being held when the blaze broke out, but there was no panic.

Rev. B. H. Hostetter, pastor of the East Stroudsburg Christian and Missionary Alliance Church, last night extended an invitation to members of the Third St. congregation to attend services at the Presbyterian Mission at 905 N. Fifth St. Sunday if they are unable to hold services in their own church.

Rep. Walter Demanding Full Account

Special to Daily Record

WASHINGTON — Rep. Francis E. Walter, of Easton, has been in contact with the Defense Department and Federal Aviation Agency officials and has demanded a full accounting of the tragic airplane crash that took the lives of 29 Lehigh Valley Army recruits last Wednesday night near Richmond, Va.

On learning of the crash while in Easton, Rep. Walter returned to his Washington office and immediately contacted heads of the Department of Army and Defense Department in behalf of the Lehigh Valley families who had lost sons.

Among those he was in contact with were Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara.

"Although these investigations will not bring back the lives of these wonderful young boys, I think everyone wants to know the type and condition of the planes that are being used to transport recruits to the new stations."

"It is with a heart full of grief that I extend my deepest sympathy to the families of these young men who only hours before embarked on new careers in the Army."

"I promise each family involved that I will get a full accounting for them of exactly what happened. At the same time, my office has extended to each of these families all the services they may require as a result of this horrible tragedy."

State Awards $11,534,425 Keystone Bids

HARRISBURG (AP)—Contracts totaling $11,534,425 were awarded by the State Highways Department Friday for eight projects, including two sections of the Keystone Turnpike.

The Shortway contracts worth $5,682,633 are in Northumberland and Montour counties. Construction will be done by the Locomotive Construction Co., Williamsport.

One section will extend 3.98 miles in Liberty and Valley twps., Montour County, and will include six bridges over Mauses and Indian creeks and an interchange with Route 240. It will cost $3,017,750.

The second Shortway project will extend 4.32 miles in East Chillisquaque and Liberty twps., in Northumberland and Montour counties. It also includes construction of six bridges. The cost is $2,664,933.

Army Lifts Ban On Air Travel

WASHINGTON (AP)—A day of confusion over whether the Army will continue moving recruits by air from their home towns to reception centers ended with a ban only on non-scheduled flights from Newark, N.J., to Columbia, S.C.

That was the route of the Constellation of nonscheduled Imperial Airlines which crashed Wednesday at Richmond, Va., killing 74 recruits headed for Ft. Jackson, S.C.

A ban on air travel by recruits issued by 2nd Army headquarters at Ft. Meade was lifted late Friday. This affected an area including Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, West Virginia, Virginia, Ohio and Kentucky.

The original 2nd Army announcement said air travel by recruits would be suspended by all recruiting stations. Later Ft. Meade said it applied only to four main stations—Baltimore, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Harrisburg, Pa., and Philadelphia.

Tiny Monkey Dies After Erratic Flight In Space

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Goliath, a tiny squirrel monkey, died in the explosion of an Atlas missile Friday and added its name to the honor roll of animals that have given their lives to make space travel safer for man.

There was a possibility the failure could delay this nation's plan to send a chimpanzee into orbit next week and an astronaut over the same course later this year. But officials said that no plans have been changed, pending careful study of data.

The Atlas which malfunctioned is an advanced model of the missile ticketed for the Project Mercury chimp and astronaut shots and officials want to take a close look at what went wrong before risking further flights.

The missile shot off course and erupted 30 seconds after it was launched, spreading a raging fireball several thousand feet above the Cape. The Air Force reported the range safety officer destroyed the missile when it became erratic.

Cause of Trouble

There was no announcement on cause of the trouble. But informed sources said the main sustainer engine shut off inexplicably 15 seconds after launching and the two booster engines were unable to maintain course. The sustainer was to have burned for more than four minutes.

Flaming chunks of the rocket sprayed into the Atlantic offshore, and onto remote areas of the Cape, starting a small brush fire in one spot. The major section of the nose cone, which carried the monkey, sank in within 100 yards of shore.

The Air Force said there is a possibility it might be recovered if it can be found.

Officials said there was no chance the primate passenger could have survived the tremendous explosion. There was no rocket escape mechanism on the cone as there is on the Mercury spacecraft. Goliath was the 29th known rocket-borne animal to die.

Goliath's capsule, a 1x1-foot cylinder, was situated near the base of the 12-foot-tall cone, just above one of the Atlas' huge fuel tanks. Experts figured he probably died the instant of the explosion.

The Atlas was intended to fly a 5,000-mile course, hurling the nose cone into a South Atlantic target area where search planes and a recovery ship waited. The cone was to reach an altitude of 650 miles.

Scientists hoped to learn how the monkey withstood the stresses of space flight, especially the approximately 20 minutes of weightlessness it would have endured on the 25-minute test. Although only six inches tall, the animal has brain and body characteristics similar to man.

No straps, biomedical instruments or other devices restrained the monkey. Officials wanted to determine its reactions while the animal floated free in small well-padded cabin, which was equipped with a life support system. A color movie camera was to have recorded evidence of actions.

Goliath, who came to the United States seven months ago from the Amazon jungle of South America, had been trained to suck water from a rubber nipple in response to a flashing light during the flight. He had been in the capsule more than 53 hours without food or water before the launching. This was necessary because technicians had to have time to check compatibility of the Atlas and the cone. The launching had been scheduled Thursday but was postponed 24 hours for technical reasons.

End 8 Years Of 'Coolness' Ike, Harry Hold Cordial Meeting

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP)—A long period of coolness between Harry S. Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower ended Friday as the former presidents met, shook hands cordially and conferred in private for about 15 minutes.

Their meeting, unannounced in advance, was the first time either one had called on the other since Eisenhower's inauguration in January 1953. They had kept their distance since then, except for a brief handshake at the funeral of Gen. George C. Marshall two years ago and a brief meeting at Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson's funeral in 1953.

"Come in, come in," Truman said, with a smile, as they shook hands.

"It's good to see you again," Eisenhower replied.

After their private conference, Truman and Eisenhower, walking side by side, made a tour of the Truman Library with its White House memoranda.

Truman Jokes

Truman was asked if Eisenhower should sign the guest register. "Definitely," Truman equipped. "Then if anything is missing we'll know who is to blame."

They paused in front of a display of the oval room, which has a duplicate of the large desk at which each worked while in the White House.

President Kennedy later substituted a smaller desk.

"They took out the big desk and put it in the cellar," Truman explained. "I don't know why."

"I don't know either," Eisenhower added.

During the tour, Truman was the most talkative of the two. Eisenhower was solemn. Most of their conversation was in low tones.

After getting the tour off to a start, Truman excused himself and Dr. Philip Brooks, library director, conducted the rest of the tour.

The two attended the inauguration of President Kennedy but did not speak.

Only last week in Washington, Truman was asked if there was a possibility of forming "a troika of former presidents."

Truman grinned, said he and Herbert Hoover already had formed a former presidents' club and added:

"He's (Hoover) the president and I'm the secretary. The other fellow (Eisenhower) hasn't been taken in yet."

Truman explained that Joyce Hall, president of a Kansas City greeting card firm, had told him Eisenhower had expressed a desire to see the Truman Library. Truman said he told Hall he would be happy to show him the library and extended an invitation through Hall.

U.S. Inspecting Soviets' Latest Berlin Proposals

Soviet Offer Is 'Probably' A Serious One

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration warily scrutinized Friday what Moscow dispatches described as new Soviet proposals on Berlin and Germany.

The news dispatches were the only basis for examination by State Department specialists. It was understood that U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson in Moscow had not been approached on any Soviet proposals—new or otherwise.

Sir David Ormsby Gore, the British envoy to Washington, said he found nothing in diplomatic dispatches to confirm the Moscow report.

News reports listed four points as the heart of the Kremlin's thinking on how to end the present stalemate on Berlin. They were, briefly:

1. A four-power agreement on a "new status" for West Berlin, guaranteeing the freedom of its inhabitants and free communication between West Berlin and West Germany.

2. An East German pledge to the Soviet Union to respect West Berlin's new status.

3. Western—including West German—recognition of East German sovereignty.

4. A peace treaty either with both Germanies, or one between the Soviet Union and East Germany, to be concluded only after an East-West agreement on the previous three points.

U.S. Rifleman Encounter No Red Trouble

BERLIN (AP)—A company of battle-ready American riflemen rolled across 110 miles of Communist territory to West Berlin Friday without incident.

They arrived amid cautious optimism that newly disclosed Soviet proposals would provide at least a breathing space for the divided and harried city. Mayor Willy Brandt said the proposals might make successful negotiations easier.

What gave Berliners some encouragement was the possibility that Moscow is now willing to guarantee their freedom and ties with the West as a first step. But they see plenty of trouble ahead when East and West start discussing just what those guarantees should be like.

The visiting riflemen belong to Co. D, 1st Battle Group, 15th Infantry, 3rd Division. They came in three lots, spaced during the day. The rear guard, led by Capt. Rex I. Holland of Glencoe, Okla., the company commander, checked through at dusk — 4:30 p.m.

Co. D looked as if it meant business, with camouflage nets over the men's steel helmets and rifles held between their knees.

It was the first of a series of units that are to come into Berlin for a few days training and then return to West Germany.

Many Programs Planned In State Vets Are Honored Today

Pennsylvanians, along with other Americans, observe Veterans Day Saturday, combining its symbols and solemnities with lighter preoccupations of people freed from their usual labors.

For many, it is actually a two-day holiday. Inasmuch as Nov. 11 falls on Saturday this year, certain public offices, nearly all commodity markets, and even some places of business and industry closed up shop on Friday, and gave their employees a bonus holiday.

In the Stroudsburgs, memorial services and a parade is scheduled.

The morning program will have officers of various veterans organizations in the area placing a wreath on the Dough Boy, Courthouse Square, Stroudsburg at 11 a.m.

Another ceremony will take place in East Stroudsburg at 11:30 a.m. at the Legion Memorial, Washington St.

The parade will begin at 7 p.m. tonight from the YMCA, Stroudsburg, down Main Street across the twin borough bridge, up Brown St. to Crystal Street. From here to N. Courtland St. to West Broad St., to a left-hand turn down Elizabeth St. to East Stroudsburg Memorial Stadium.

At the stadium, a midget football game will be played. During the halftime intermission, the VFW and American Legion drum corps will perform for about 15 minutes.

That Veterans Day and Saturday are one means also a full quota of college football games, with assorted other athletic delights for those so inclined.

Such robust activities are not considered likely, however, to detract from the status of an anniversary, which, though it honors warriors dead and alive, is dedicated to peace.

The scope of the day has grown over the years.

Originally, Nov. 11 was set apart as Armistice Day, to commemorate the end of World War I.

But Congress was thinking of peace in 1954, when it broadened Armistice Day into Veterans Day, in this language: "... The recurring anniversary of this date should be commemorated with thanksgiving and prayer and exercises to perpetuate peace through good-will and mutual understanding between nations."

Major Ceremony

One of Philadelphia's major observances will unfold at the monument to the unknown soldier of the Revolutionary War in Washington Square.

In the evening, Justice Michael A. Musmanno, of the state Supreme Court, will address the United Veterans Council of Philadelphia.

Pittsburgh is having its annual parade, on the North Side and in the downtown sections, with armed forces on active duty and veterans' organizations taking part.

Parading will be a highlight in Harrisburg, too, featuring a dozen or more bands, the marching of Reserve and National Guard units and the rumbling of tanks.

Growth Through Stewardship

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Matthew 23:1-36; 25:14-30.

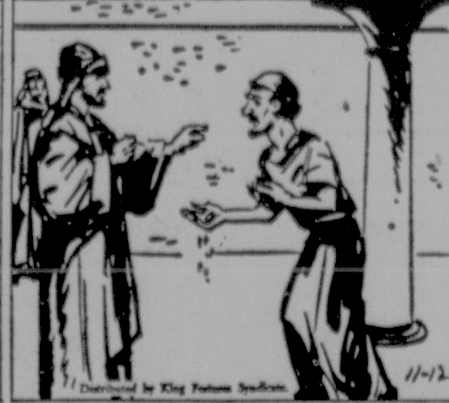

Christ condemns the scribes and Pharisees because they have not used wisely their stewardship of the Jewish people. They have striven for their own selfish ambitions instead of being leaders for God.—Matthew 23:1-36.

In the parable of the talents, He points out the rewards of good stewardship of God's gifts. When the master goes away he leaves his property in the care of his servants, giving each a number of money-pieces (talents).—Matthew 25:14-15.

When the master returns he finds that the first two servants have invested their talents and increased them for their master. He rewards them, as the Lord rewards His servants, with praise and more responsibility.—Matthew 25:16-23.

The third servant, however, was lazy and unfaithful. He buried his talent where it could not grow or do good. The master condemned him and gave his talent to one who had many.—Matthew 25:18-30.

GOLDEN TEXT—Romans 12:1.

God-Given Abilities Must Be Accounted For

By N. Speer Jones

THE FIRST passage assigned in today's lesson seems at first to have little to do with the subject cited. However, the scribes and Pharisees condemned by Christ may be considered prime examples of stewardship gone astray.

These men, entrusted with the stewardship of the Jews, betrayed this trust by exercising selfish ambitions. Instead of growing through their trust to be true leaders of their people and more perfect subjects of God, they became "blind guides."

Because their hearts and minds were not fastened on serving God, whatever humility they once had was soon eroded by the natural respect which men display toward their leaders.

These scribes and Pharisees had their appetite for power and adulation whetted, and soon were busy concentrating — perhaps unconsciously — on those matters which would satiate this appetite. They encouraged others to call them "rabbi" (teacher) and to give them places of honor at feasts and such; they "do all their deeds to be seen by men," making great show of the phylacteries they wore.

These phylacteries were small leather cases containing strips of parchment inscribed with certain verses from the Old Testament; they were strapped to the forehead and wrist, as they still are today by some orthodox Jews.

The Pharisees came to place great emphasis on the letter of the law and on outward signs, neglecting "the weightier matters of the law, justice and mercy and faith"; they worried about many small gnats-like imperfections, blinded to the large camel-like evils which infested them (Matthew 23:23-24).

In his fierce condemnation of these men, Christ repeatedly calls them "hypocrites." This word originally meant actors, those who acted out a part on stage.

All of us are subject to the same pitfalls which trapped the scribes and Pharisees. Only by fastening our eyes steadfastly on God's objectives instead of on our own petty ambitions can we remain worthy stewards of the gifts He has given us.

This is more clearly illustrated in the second passage in today's lesson, the famous parable of the talents. Our concept of the word "talent"—gift or ability—is traceable to this Biblical passage.

Originally it meant a weight; later it came to mean a certain amount of gold or silver, a piece weighing that much. In our parable, the master gives his slaves such pieces of money, symbolizing our Lord's gifts to us, His servants, of certain abilities.

We are entrusted with these as a test, to see what we will make of them. Will we invest them wisely, put them to work so they will grow, or will we bury them, as did the third servant?

As F. G. Peabody says (Peloubet's Select Notes, p. 375), "Knowledge, power, faith, all grow by investment." We should remember, too, that God cares not how many talents we have; it is what we do with them that counts; the first two servants were both given the same reward.

Also, when we tend to become proud of our abilities, we must remember that they are not really ours, but rather God's, which He entrusted to us so they might be properly employed and grow for Him. With this in mind, we can become neither jealous nor proud.

The First Step

BOSTON (AP)—Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston tells of a succinct answer he received during a visit to a school for girls in Latin America.

"I introduced my remarks with this question: What is the first thing to do to make good chicken soup?" he wrote in The Pilot, official publication of the Boston Archdiocese.

"After a brief silence, a hand went up and a 10-year-old girl said: 'Kill the chicken, your eminence.'"

Temple Israel To Send Delegates To SOFA Meet

SEYMOUR KATZ, of Lenmore Road, Stroudsburg, president of Temple Israel, said yesterday the Congregation Delegates to the Convention of United Synagogue of America, which is the central organization of Conservative Judaism will be Rabbi Bernhard Presler and Attorney Edwin Krawitz.

Temple Israel of East Stroudsburg has been affiliated with the United Synagogue since.

A Long Island Rabbi, a Manhattan housewife and a Montreal business executive will discuss the relevance of "traditional Jewish law" in modern life at the biennial convention of the United Synagogue. The United Synagogue is the congregational arm of the Conservative Movement in Judaism.

The convention will be held at the Concord Hotel in Kiamasha Lake, New York. From Sunday, Nov. 12 through Thursday, Nov. 16. More than 1,200 delegates representing 734 congregations are expected to attend, including leaders from 78 Congregations expected to attend, including leaders from 78 Congregations newly affiliated with the United Synagogue.

The Long Island Rabbi, Dr. Max J. Rottenberg of Temple B'nai Shalom in Rockville Centre and chairman of the Rabbinical Assembly's Committee on Jewish Law, will be featured speaker at the session on Jewish Law. In keeping with the convention theme, "Torah, A Blueprint For Our Lives," Rabbi Rottenberg will examine what he calls the basic spiritual dilemma confronting the modern Jew: the tension between the old traditions of his forebears, in the twentieth-century world of social and intellectual change.

His address will be discussed by Dr. Evelyn Garfield who describes herself as a "Housewife" but who is also an Instructor in Religion at the Women's Institute of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America and has taught psychology at the University of Chicago and neurology at the University of Wisconsin Medical School.

The wife of Rabbi Max Kadushin, Dr. Garfield has written several books on religious practices and has lectured widely throughout the country. Her appearance will mark one of the few times in Jewish history that a woman has addressed an organized forum on religious law. The Montreal business executive who will discuss Dr. Rottenberg's address is Horace R. Cohen, O.B.E., a member of the Board of Overseers of the Jewish Theological Seminary. Mr. Cohen is honorary president of Shaar Hashomayim Synagogue in Montreal.

The Convention theme will also be stressed in a Torah Institute conducted the preceding week-end under the auspices of the National Academy of Jewish Studies. This gathering which is expected to be attended by about 150 men and women from all parts of the country, is a modern revival of the ancient "Kallah," the annual month-long study assembly organized by the Jewish academies in Babylon (now Iraq) to which scholars flocked from all parts of the Diaspora.

On Wednesday Nov. 15, Rabbi, Dr. Louis Finkelstein will deliver the address at the closing banquet. Rabbi Finkelstein is now the Chancellor of the Jewish Theological Seminary, New York.

REV. EARL E. STEWART, Missionary to Guinea, West Africa will show moving pictures and slides of the gospel work in that land at the Christian and Missionary Alliance at the Fifth Street Presbyterian Mission Sunday at 9:45 and the Services at 10:45 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. There will be curios and costumes on display. Rev. B. H. Hostetter is pastor.

Parson To Parson

By R. G. MacLeod

Signs of the times are not all bad. Take note of all the new churches and additions to Sunday School buildings that are either in the process of being built, or in the planning stage. The East Stroudsburg Methodist annex is a thing of beauty, and great effort was made by all the members to make it possible.

Slow, but sure, is the building construction going on at the East Stroudsburg Presbyterian. The new structure may have been predestined, but it takes all the congregation working together to make it come to pass.

A church, to be sure, is but a building. The real church is the people. It is a very good sign that local church buildings are growing too small to house the people of God.

In these times, it costs a great money to build new or add on to a present building. It also costs a great deal to cater to our personal luxuries such as that game of golf, lodge dues and expenses, going to the movies, cigarettes, that we mite put aside as "mad money" and those spending trips to the big city.

If we took even one tenth of the money that we spend on our own pleasure and put it in the collection plate for our building fund, we would never miss it, and our parsons would not have to plead with us so hard too part with the few miserable coins that clutter so loud in the offering plate.

The rustle of paper is more soothing to the ear, and you will enjoy the silence as the collection is taken.

Seventh Day Adventist children "trick-or-treated" for the benefit of the needy by the collection of canned goods instead of asking candy for themselves.

That's putting the "Hallow" back in Halloween!

These difficulties, plus the fact that Islam forbids its followers to leave their religion, have meant that during the four years which Pegors spent in West Pakistan very few have decided to become Christians.

Methods of work used by Pegors to present the truth of Christianity to the Sindhi people included distribution of literature, gospel records and filmstrips, and private interviews in his home.

Rev. John Alexander Thompson, Ph. D. will be the guest speaker Sunday at the 11 a.m. Church of the Mountain, Delaware Water Gap.

The Rev. Thompson's from Egypt and is a member of the faculty of the Theological Seminary in Cairo, Egypt. This institution is the only Protestant school of theology in Egypt.

Dr. Thompson is presently engaged in making a revision of the Bible in Arabic. The undertaking is under the auspices of the American Bible Society.

Rev. Paul Pegors

Rev. Pegors Will Be Speaker

Misconceptions concerning Christianity are common among the people of West Pakistan and are some of the greatest obstacles to the missionary work of the Rev. Paul Pegors. He will be guest speaker at First Baptist Church, East Stroudsburg, Sunday, Nov. 19th at the 11:00 a.m. and 7 p.m. services.

The poorly educated villagers of Sind, the part of West Pakistan where Rev. Pegors worked, actually know very little about Jesus Christ. However, they believe that Christians are infidels who should be neither trusted nor associated with. The better educated people feel that Christians have changed the gospel record or look down on Christians because they eat pork.

These difficulties, plus the fact that Islam forbids its followers to leave their religion, have meant that during the four years which Pegors spent in West Pakistan very few have decided to become Christians.

Methods of work used by Pegors to present the truth of Christianity to the Sindhi people included distribution of literature, gospel records and filmstrips, and private interviews in his home.

Maybe it seems odd to think that anyone has to "discover" the Bible. Yet stop and think how few of us really know this Book of books.

Time was when families read the Bible together, and most youngsters could quote their Scriptures. Biblical allusions were commonplace and understood by one and all.

Then somehow, over the years, a lot of people forgot about the Bible. Or they reserved it exclusively for Sundays in church.

Now, there is a great and blessed resurgence of Bible reading in our land—thanks to the great work of the American Bible Society. Youngsters like these are learning new truths for themselves. They are putting God's word not just into Sunday, but into every day.

THE
THE WORLD

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship.
It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

A Public Forum

One of the most important portions of any newspaper is that section which publishes communications to the editor under various titles. In The Daily Record, we use the simple "Dear Mr. Editor" for our letters to the editor.

Actually, the title is of very little importance, but the content of the column is extremely important. It represents a public forum for our readers and residents of the area. It is the place where each person who has an axe to grind, or praise to give, or an opinion on almost any subject may air his views in public.

However, the letters to the editor is also a responsible public forum. It is no place for petty squabbles, for gossip, for libel, revenge or outright hatred. It is for this reason that the editor insists that each letter be signed as an evidence of good faith, and it is for this reason that unsigned letters are immediately relegated to the waste basket.

We realize that in certain somewhat ticklish situations the publication of names might lead to undesirable consequences for the letter writer, and if there is sufficient reason, the writer's name will not be used—but it must be on the letter the editor receives!

We welcome letters on almost any subject. The more opinions we publish the better we see ourselves fulfilling our traditional and self-appointed role of a fair and open forum in a democratic society. We're glad that many of our readers have opinions. We'd hate to see the day when no one cared enough to sit down with a pen or typewriter and make his opinions public.

When that silence comes, we will no longer be a democratic society at all. We'll be a bunch of sheep blindly following a leader—who may be a good or a bad leader.

So, let your letters to the editor come. All that we ask is that the ideas be constructive and that their content be of such a nature that they are fitting for public discussion. Expression of your ideas and ideas is good for the mind and the soul—and they may help someone else in their thinking. It is a wonderful way to make your ideas count, and in this uncertain day and age we need new ideas and a wide expression of opinion on every subject.

Dim Light On Fallout

In The continuing and sometimes confusing debate about what fallout does or doesn't do to man, add one more official pronouncement.

Take it from Dr. Donald R. Chadwick, head of the U. S. Public Health Service's Division of Radiological Health, that there is no safe level of radiation, but neither is there any known danger point.

If this sounds like more nuclear doubletalk, perhaps it does explain the contradictions. Past reports, indicating that exposure to even a little radiation can be genetically harmful, are correct. So are those which stress the other side of the coin and say that present levels of radiation will not kill masses of people.

In other words, it's still a numbers and percentage game. But Dr. Chadwick at least deserves credit for clarifying one point — this puts the burden into the laps of political leaders, rather than scientists. Since there's no clear-cut answer on a cutoff point for radiation danger, other considerations must be the determining factors.

Khrushchev recognizes this, too. He admitted to newsmen in Moscow this week that he also is aware that fallout is bad for human health. Even as he was talking, clouds of fallout from the Soviet tests were circling back and dropping more radioactive materials on Red soil. But he has put his own political needs first, no matter how extreme we may think they are. In the long run, the United States must do the same.

There is a little we can do to cut radiation exposure to the bone. Pennsylvania's program to control other man-made radiation sources such as X-ray machines and fluoroscope devices is a help. So are decisions to hold down the megaton size of nuclear tests to practical yields of radioactive debris and to conduct as many non-fallout underground tests as possible.

It's important that Americans be told frankly about the grey area of scientific indecision over what does or doesn't constitute a danger point of radioactivity. It's also important that the political and military requirements which may force a resumption of nuclear testing be made crystal clear.

Such decisions will affect not only our generation, but future ones as well. The stakes not only are physical health, but the survival of a free government system under which people can live and enjoy what health they have.

The Walker Case

General Edwin A. Walker has resigned from the armed services after serving his country as a commissioned officer for 30 years. He has not been given a trial. He has not been court-martialed for any violation of the military regulations of this country. As he stated to the United States Armed Services Committee:

"My career has been destroyed in its usefulness to my country. I cannot accept retirement with its emoluments and benefits. To do so would be a compromise with my principle."

Until General Walker has had his day in court, openly so that all the American people can know exactly what happened, the conclusion must be that he has been unfairly treated, as General Douglas MacArthur was unfairly treated, as General Patton might have been more unfairly treated but for public opinion. There can be no excuse for improper treatment for men in uniform.

General Walker takes the position: "We are at war. We are infiltrated. We are losing that war every day. Are our hands tied, yours and mine? We need a substitute for defeat. If it is not within the power of this Congress to provide it—then the people of these United States are not truly represented."

The theory that a military man is silenced by his uniform cannot be substantiated in a free country. A military officer does not lose his mind or his capacity for articulation by the simple act of joining the Army. General Walker quotes George Washington to uphold his own position:

"If men are to be precluded from offering their sentiments on a matter, which may involve the most serious and alarming consequences that can invite the consideration of mankind, reason is of no use to us; the freedom of speech may be taken away, and dumb and silent we may be led, like sheep to the slaughter."

What has been General Walker's crime? He is opposed to Communism. He has recognized Soviet Russia as our enemy and in the indoctrination of the troops under his command he said so. Discussing this, General Walker said:

"We have yet to agree among ourselves, and with our allies, to reach a simple definition—Communism is the enemy. We employ its agents in the teaching professions, allowing them to work on the fertile minds of youth seeking a champion to pit against an scapegoat. They infest our entertainment media. They long ago have infiltrated our government so that a scheme of subversion can be traced through three decades."

"Even our free press is exploited by Communist propagandists. Communist collaborators find rabid and militant defense among certain groups of our citizens, some of whom are sincerely confused and misguided."

Governments which oppose the leaders of these groups and their purposes often are branded reactionary. In other nations of our hemisphere, we have seen these groups seize absolute power. In Cuba, it was with our help."

The time has come for a public hearing for and against General Walker. Let us get at the facts, whatever they may be. General Walker has already made a statement to the U.S. Senate Armed Services Committee but this has not received the circulation that it deserved.

"The Bookmiller, Inc." in New York has issued General Walker's statement in pamphlet form and that is now available to the public. It is reported that this Senate Committee will hold a public hearing late in November but unless it is fully open, it will serve no constructive purpose.

It will be impossible in an open hearing to avoid calling Adam Yarmolinsky to the stand to testify to the nature and cause of his opposition to General Walker, if any, and the relationship of that opposition to the Fund for the Republic of which Yarmolinsky was Secretary, although he is now Special Assistant to the Secretary of Defense.

What part has Yarmolinsky played in the elimination of General Walker from the Army? Who is responsible for the peculiar action that was taken concerning General Walker?

When a public hearing has been held, we shall be told who is telling the truth and why those who are not telling the truth are taking the attitude that they are. Also we need to know what is the motivation for this sort of thing.

A public hearing may discredit General Walker or it may discredit his superiors, but it cannot discredit the United States.

On County Coroner

Editor, The Daily Record

"Any Doctor who runs for Coroner ought to have his head examined!" This expression was used many times in recent months, and with my complete agreement of the truth in the statement. It is no doubt why I had no heart in waging a serious campaign in the recent election.

The fees of a County Coroner are less than $300 a year; the loss to a physician holding this job runs many times higher. Is it any wonder that I, as a candidate for this job, felt a sense of relief when the results of voting came in a few nights ago? Truthfully, I was fearful the week preceding election that I might win!

How many of your readers would care to be called from your bed in the middle of the night and spend several hours with the shattered remains of one or more human bodies for $5.50? Nor is this the end of your duties for said magnificent stipend; reports, inquests, many phone calls, cajolery, selection of juries—these are but a few of the duties demanded of the Coroner.

In case you haven't caught the point of all this, I am making a plea for a fee which is too low for even a layman, let alone a physician. Under the present circumstances I doubt that you will ever get another Doctor to be talked into performing his "civic duty" the way I was. Mr. Foelker worked for his election and deserved to win. I believe him to be as qualified as anyone can be outside the profession. Naturally I congratulated him when the voters expressed their preference, but at the same time I told him that I was sorry for him.

Now, to get to the meat of my dissertation, I am plugging for a fee of twenty or twenty-five dollars a case, or a salary commensurate with the importance of the position — enough to make it worth while to want the job. A salaried pathologist is the next greatest need and one certainly should be considered. Politics should never be a factor in selecting a coroner and I hope that four years from now a physician will represent both parties and the ability of the practitioner himself will be the deciding factor in his selection.

A Happy Loser,

School Bus Driver Speaks

Editor, The Daily Record:

After reading about the child being hit in Delaware Water Gap a short time back, being a school bus driver myself and having at least 50 per cent of the traveling motorists pass my bus while loading or unloading my pupils, it makes me wonder if the drivers today are in their right minds.

Up until tonight I just bawled the people out, after yelling myself hoarse and wearing the horn out on my bus trying to get them stopped. But from now on, including the one tonight, they get turned in and arrested. I don't care if its the president of the school board or the President of the United States. One is no better than the other to obey this law.

The law is for the safety of their children as well as mine. There is no reason why people have to pass a bus if they have their mind on driving. To think of how people crawl and beg not to be turned in after they pass my bus makes me sick.

If I were the motorist who passed the bus and hit one of their children, they would scream to get me the punishment I deserved. So why not them?

From now on they can beg and offer me bribes and crawl all they want, but it won't do them any good.

I have driven a bus for nine years and I have yet to see a policeman stop a car when it passes my bus. We have a job to do and we try to do it right. Maybe we aren't perfect, and I'm not saying we are, but at least when I take your child's life in my hands in the morning I want to bring him back at night the same way I got him—not all broken up or maybe dead from some numbskull hitting him with a car while passing the school bus. It could be you!

So wake up and help us to protect your children and mine. It's your duty as much as mine, the bus driver. We have enough to contend with on Route 209 near Bushkill with barricades and shovels and trucks working, and no flagman to help us through and over the blind hills where there is one-lane traffic.

Again I ask: Why do we have to contend with people passing school buses?

LUTHER VANWHY, Jr.

Defends Eastburg

Editor, The Daily Record:

Having heard many comments that "if E. Stroudsburg had put in a sewage system when Stroudsburg died" and now in The Daily Record of Nov. 1 in the "Know Your Candidates" section under the advertisement of Mr. Harris for Mayor of Stroudsburg it says:—

"Ask E. Stroudsburg property owners how they like the burden of expense that will be heaped upon them when their sewer system is complete, as compared to the negligible cost to Stroudsburg property owners for their sewer system—all because Hal Harris had the aggressiveness and the know how to get the sewer system when Government funds for such a project were available."

It does not go on to state—leaving people under the impression that E. Stroudsburg did not avail itself of the opportunity of funds when available for community projects, that E. Stroudsburg owned its own water works at the time and, as the demand was greater than the supply the available funds were used to build a second reservoir—which was more of a necessity at that time than a sewage disposal plant and for street improvement.

Yes—it places a big burden on the townspeople together with the new Jr.-Sr. High School.

If the matter had been brought into the open and the people given a chance—instead of being railroaded into this project — I believe the majority would have gone along willingly in having a plant large enough to take care of future needs and put the drainage in the part of town where really needed until the people could have got out from under some of the burden when it could have been extended to other parts of the town.

Yes, E. Stroudsburg got its share of available funds as well as Stroudsburg.

An E. Stroudsburg Taxpayer

Writes On Airport

Editor, The Daily Record

So, we need to expand the facilities of the Mt. Pocono Airport for large commercial airlines—Who does Mr. Dengler think he is fooling?

Do the people of Monroe County honestly think that the large airlines will have their planes land here. Nobody has to be told that the small volume of passenger traffic here, could not pay for one of these large airlines for landing and taking off from the airport.

With the proximity of Avoca, Allentown-Bethlehem - Easton, Newark, New York City and Phila., airports, does he honestly think that we are to swallow this "rosy" talk of these planes coming here instead of these other larger and modern airports.

TWA has just notified the

A-B-C airport that they are discontinuing service there because of the small volume of business.

Furthermore, with the weather conditions at this Mt. Pocono airport, particularly in the winter time, with the snow, ice, fog, high winds, etc., it just isn't feasible as a terminal for large airline traffic.

As it now stands, this airport is large enough to handle the seasonal air traffic that benefits the Pocono Mts. and its tourist and industrial trade.

Stop encouraging this additional waste of the taxpayers money, be it Federal, State or Local. It all comes from the pocket of "George" taxpayer.

About Town

An American, a British and a French girl were taking an examination for a position as an airline hostess. The examiner asked what they would do if they were cast up on an island in the Pacific with nothing on the island except 600 castaway marines.

The American girl said: "I would insist upon my rights as an American girl."

The British girl said: "I would throw myself upon the mercy of the ranking officer."

The French girl said: "You have outlined the situation; just what's the problem?"

Wear and Tear

Wife: "You know, dear, you don't seem as well dressed as you were when you married me five years ago."

Husband: "I don't see why not. I'm wearing the same suit."

"Ha-ha-ha-ha—I'm reading my old letters I wrote you. 'My darling slim princess'—ha-ha-ha-ha!"

Inside You And Yours
Medicine's
Hidden Treasure

By Burton H. Fern, M.D.

Would you like to be rich? Study medicine!

A doctor's riches can't be measured in dollars and cents. What's worth more than the toothless grin of a wrinkled, aging face when you hold out new hope? Or the victory after an all-night vigil with a ghostly half-dead child?

Now can you measure the gratitude of a crippled teenager whose leg-lengthening operation helped her win a rock 'n' roll contest? Or a simple discovery that may save thousands of lives?

A few hours with a suicide-bound college girl seems extravaluable when she's married and raising six happy youngsters years later.

You Feel Good!

Anxious mothers, screaming earaches, early cancers, long-faceted ulcers, swollen joints, even those lobster-red sunburns — every cure, every soothing pain, every new smile makes you feel good all over!

You don't work alone. Into every patient goes the knowledge of hundreds of teachers and research specialists. You'll find a little Freud in all psychiatric treatment, a bit of Sir Alexander Fleming in every penicillin shot and some of Doctors Salk and Enders in every vial of polio vaccine.

Medical careers fit every personality. If you like people, you'll love office hours. Scientists can explore life's secrets in research centers. Teaching can bring your knowledge to millions of patients.

Addicted to capable, hard-working students, medical schools crave more and more. But don't apply unless you have determination and guts!

Can You Do These?

You have to work and study nights and weekends, when everyone else is off having fun. Can you face dangerous germs and violent patients without cringing? Are you strong enough to carry the burden of a life-or-death decision?

Remember, that comfortable income and M.D. status symbol can tarnish overnight. But if you want real rewards, locked inside your heart where they can't tarnish join the medical fraternity!

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

Try and Stop Me

It's open season for the Kampos Komics again. A few examples:

1. "Does a sweater do anything for your wife?" "Naw. Just makes her itch."

2. "Have you ever been pinched for going too fast?" "No—but I've been slapped."

3. Ad in a New Haven daily: "Encyclopedia Britannica complete set, for sale cheap, never used. My wife knows everything."

4. Observation by an indignant faculty adviser: "When I was a kid there was no such thing as juvenile delinquency. We were all hardened criminals."

5. A motorist gave a lift to a beatnik, and after several moments of desultory conversation, asked him, "Is there something bearing down on us from behind?" The beatnik looked, and told him, "Nothing but a dog."

So the driver slowed up a bit and there was a terrific crash. While waiting for the ambulance, the driver grumbled, "I thought you told me nothing was coming but a dog." "Yeah, man," nodded the beatnik. "A Greyhound."

The day after a sedate school teacher bought a second-hand sedan she drove it back to the dealer's yard.

"What's wrong?" asked the dealer anxiously.

"Nothing at all," said the teacher sweetly. "I just want to return these things for the dear little old lady you told me owned the car before you sold it to me. She left this plug of tobacco in the glove compartment, and this half-empty bottle of gin under the seat."

Congressional Quiz

Speaker Of The House

By Congressional Quarterly

The serious illness of House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D Texas) has emphasized the importance of the Speaker of the House, considered by some to be second in power only to the President of the United States. This quiz tests your knowledge of the history and functions of his office and calls for four correct answers.

1. Q—True or false: The Speaker of the House must be chosen from among the membership of the House of Representatives?

A—False. The Constitution requires only that the Speaker and other officers of the House, such as the Clerk and Sergeant-at-Arms, be elected by the House. In practice, however, a Speaker has never been chosen that has not been a member of the House.

2. Q—Including Mr. Rayburn, there have been (a) 23; (b) 38; (c) 44 Speakers of the House?

A—(c). Frederick A. C. Muhlenberg of Pennsylvania was the first Speaker of the House serving in that post from 1789 to 1791 and again from 1793 to 1795.

3. Q—Can you match the following former Speakers, with parties?

1. Joseph G. Cannon (Ill.)—A. Democrat.

2. John Nance Garner (Texas)—B. Whig.

3. Henry Clay (Ky.)—C. American.

4. Nathaniel P. Banks (Mass.)—D. Republican.

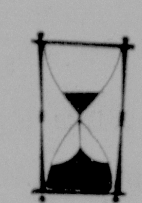

A—1-d; 2-a; 3-b; 4-c. Banks was elected to the 33rd Congress as a Coalition Democrat; to the 34th Congress, during which he served as Speaker, as a member of the American party; and to the 35th Congress as a Republican.

4. Q—On June 12, 1961, Mr. Rayburn doubled the previous record for length of service as Speaker by holding that office for 16 years and 273 days. Who was the man who held the previous record?

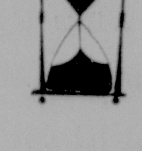

A—Henry Clay of Kentucky held the previous record for service as Speaker. He held the post on three separate occasions for a period totalling 8 years and 136½ days between 1811 and 1825. The record for the shortest term as Speaker goes to Theodore M. Pomeroy of New York, who served for one day.

5. Q—Which of the following former speakers did not run for President: (a) Henry Clay; (b) James G. Blaine; (c) James K. Polk; (d) John Nance Garner?

A—(d). Garner served as Vice President under Franklin Delano Roosevelt from 1932 to 1940.

Obituaries

William Gabel, Tannersville

WILLIAM J. GABEL, 58, owner and operator of several businesses in Tannersville for the past 20 years, died at 11:50 a. m. Friday in Monroe County General Hospital.

Gabel was born in Temple, Pa., the son of the late George and Ellanora Hess Gabel.

For the past nine years, he was owner and operator of the Gabel Ice Cream Store in Tannersville. Prior to that, he owned a bar and grill for 11 years there.

He has been a resident of the area for 20 years after moving from Reading.

He was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Tannersville; J. Simpson Africa Masons of East Stroudsburg; Keystone Consistory of Scranton; The Irem Temple Shrine, Wilkes-Barre; Pocono Volunteers Fire Co. of Tannersville and Eagles Lodge 1106, Stroudsburg.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Stella Zechman Gabel at home; one daughter, Mrs. Phyllis DeHaven, one grandson, William DeHaven, both of Scotrun, and three brothers, Arthur, of Wyomissing; Robert, of Shillington, and George, of Wernersville.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 11 a. m. from the Lanterman funeral home, Rev. Edward Horn, Sr., and Rev. William F. Wunder will officiate. Interment will be in the Laurelwood Cemetery.

Friends and relatives may call at the funeral home Sunday from 7 to 9 p. m. Masonic services will be held at 8 p. m. Sunday.

Second Thruway Section Opens Officially Nov. 21

THE SECOND section of the Stroudsburgs Thruway will officially open Tuesday, Nov. 21 at 1:30 p. m., Joseph Beers, contractor on the local road job, announced last night.

The opening will enable motorists to drive from the Delaware River Toll Bridge at Delaware Water Gap to Route 611 where a temporary cutoff has been established in the vicinity of the former Central Labor Union Park (Gaylord property).

Inspection Under Way
Teams of Pennsylvania State Highway Department officials will inspect the second stretch of the Thruway the next 10 days. Also officials from the District Engineer's Office, Allentown, and the Bureau of Roads, Washington, D. C., will give final approval of the project which is part of the Key-stone Shortway (Interstate 80).

The first section, covering land between Delaware Water Gap and the Brodheads Creek between East Stroudsburg and Stroudsburg, was constructed by the James Morrissey Co. through East Stroudsburg.

Was Dedicated
The two sections were recently dedicated with Governor David Lawrence putting the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania's official approval on the approximately six-mile stretch of highway.

The cost of the ultra-modern highway which graces Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg was nearly four million dollars.

Library Receiving $2,333.33

Record Harrisburg Bureau

HARRISBURG — Monroe County public library is receiving $2,333.33 from state funds—final payment for 1961—under a 1931 aid-to-libraries act, the State Department of Public Instruction said yesterday.

Grants to county public libraries are made in two annual installments from funds appropriated to the department.

The current payment is for the seven-month period from June 1 to December 31 of this year. The other installment period is from January 1 to May 31 of each year, the department said.

State aid to county libraries, certified by the State Library, is paid on a county matching fund basis—up to a maximum of $4,000 annually—the amount depending upon the sum of an appropriation of the county commissioners to support a county library and the class of the county.

The appropriation for 1961 by Monroe County Commissioners for the county library was listed at $8,500. As a seventh class county Monroe County is rated to receive as a state grant an amount equal to 75 per cent of the county appropriation or a maximum of $4,000, whichever is the lesser sum. On this basis the 1961 grant to Monroe County is $4,000—maximum under the present law.

Under an amendment to the aid-to-libraries act, passed by the 1961 Legislature, the maximum payment was increased to $8,000, starting with 1962 payments.

State grants for 1961 total $10,172.22 to 34 county public libraries, in Pennsylvania, the department said.

One Hurt In Two Accidents

MT. POCONO—One person was injured in two accidents investigated yesterday by State Police of the local barracks.

At 10:15 a. m., cars driven by Morris Berman, 47, of 417 N. Webster Ave., Scranton, and Keith Ernest Wellard, 18, of 208 Bailey St., Chinchilla, collided on Route 611 in Coolbaugh Township.

Wellard suffered a wrenched back and was treated by his family physician. Damage was estimated at $200 to Berman's car and $300 to Wellard's.

The second crash, at 1 p. m., also occurred on Route 611 in Coolbaugh Township.

The drivers were identified as Hubbard T. Plunkett, Jr., 39, Tobyhanna, and Michael Mordovancey, 49, Staten Island, N. Y. The Plunkett car was demolished and the front end of the Mordovancey station wagon was damaged.

Two Youths Are Killed

YORK, Pa. (AP)—Two youths were killed and two were seriously injured Thursday night when their car crashed into a tree near Newberrytown, York County.

Coroner Thomas M. Hart, of York County, identified the two dead boys as Carl E. Smith, 17, of Lewisberry, R. D. 1, and Thomas Barnhart, 15, of Manchester, R. D. 1.

10 Deeds Filed At Court House

TEN deeds were filed yesterday in the office of Mrs. Jeanette F. Batroy, Monroe County register and recorder:

Alvin C. and Carole Stiff, Mt. Pocono, to Anthony and Esther Zinni, Sharon Hill, property in Coolbaugh Township; Pocono Lakeshore, Inc., to Larson H. and Margaret L. McClintock, South Plainfield, N.J., property in Monroe Lake Shores; Pocono Lakeshore to Ernest and Dorothy E. Renninger, Sassamansville, property in Monroe Lake Shores.

Perry D. and Ethel B. Smith, Long Beach, Miss., to John and Mary Costello, Croydton, property in Middle Smithfield Township; Iva Holbrook, Stroudsburg, and Walter D. and Mary A. May and Mignonette Holbrook, Hamilton Township, to Ethel M. Altken, Brooklyn, N.Y., property in Hamilton Township.

Edward Durnan, Stroud Township, to Elwood C. and Althea F. Courtot, Roselle, N.J., property in Smithfield Township; Russell C. and Carrie E. Young, Hamilton Township, to Kenneth and Margaret Harper, Easton, three properties in Hamilton Township.

Martha D. Herbst, Whitehall Township, Lehigh County, to Raymond W. and Helen M. Roth, Saylorsburg, six properties in Ross Township; Martha D. Herbst to Harry B. and Ida M. Heller, Easton, nine properties in Ross Township (two deeds).

Jailed 25 Days On Clerk's Error

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Valentine Smulkstis, 38, of Seltzer, in Schuylkill County, was held in a Philadelphia jail for 25 days after a judge acquitted him of a charge of possessing untaxed liquor.

Louis J. Amarando, clerk of Quarter Sessions Court, assumed responsibility for the error, but pointed out it occurred primarily because Judge Vincent A. Carroll had filed the not guilty verdict while Smulkstis was still in jail.

Smulkstis was arrested Sept. 17 on a charge of carrying a bottle partly filled with wine that had no state tax stamp. He was brought to trial Oct. 13, but through an oversight remained in prison when the case was called.

Judge Carroll, told the facts, acquitted him. The district attorney's office received a letter from Smulkstis asking when his trial would be held. He was released last Tuesday.

Set To Sound Governor Bidders

HARRISBURG (AP)—Pennsylvania political leaders will sound out prospects for the 1962 gubernatorial and senatorial elections Dec. 9 at the 53rd annual Pennsylvania Society Dinner in New York City.

The dinner, sponsored by expatriate Pennsylvanians, is considered one of the main maneuvering areas each year, particularly for GOP hopefuls. About 1,500 persons are expected to attend the stag affair.

The black-tie affair attracts top party officials, as well as minor officials, and financial interests.

Guest speaker at the dinner will be Roger M. Blough, chairman of the board of the U. S. Steel Corp. A Distinguished Achievement Award will be presented by the society to Thomas B. McCabe, resident of the Scott Paper Co.

Muslin For Sikhs

GAZA (AP)—The United Nations Command has ordered 72,000 yards of blue muslin for some of the toughest soldiers in the world. It's needed to make turbans for bearded Sikh troopers from India, who won't adopt the blue berets worn by other U.N. Emergency Force units on the Egyptian-Israeli border.

Authentic 1880 Costumes Will Be Used In SW Play

NEWFOUNDLAND — The wasp-waisted, bustle-backed dresses that will help set the scene for the Southern Wayne Joint School Junior class production "The Innocents" on Friday, November 17, are authentic costumes from the 1880's, and are to be worn through the generosity of a local family, well-known for service to this area.

A descendent of one of Scranton's founding families, Ruth Hinds Fetherman, is a key figure in the school production. Granddaughter of Erastus T. Hull, a name synonymous with Scranton's early history, Mrs. Fetherman is serving as costume and properties consultant for the local students in their presentation of the play based on "The Turn of the Screw."

Settings and costuming play a very important part in this particular play, which takes place in 1880 in an English country home. Mrs. Fetherman, who, with her husband, own "The Chimes Antiques" in Newfoundland, is making sure that the settings are authentic, with the proper period furniture loaned from The Chimes.

One of the Fethermans' hobbies is the collection of period costumes, and the dresses worn by Yvonne Rochfort as Flora; Joan Bancroft and Shirley Jones and Miss Giddens and Mrs. Gross; and the shirts worn by Donna Bartleson as Miles, will do much toward creating the 1880's in 1961.

Mrs. Fetherman has been helpful in suggesting hair styles and in completing the costumes she is lending to the cast, with accessories in keeping with the period. Tiny, perky bonnets, wasp-waisted coats and jacket, flowing, bustle-backed skirts and finely-tucked shirts to be worn by the cast are authentic, having been gleaned from local attics and trunks and dating back to the late 1800's.

Ruth Hinds Fetherman found her love for antiques growing when she was a child, rumaging in her Grandmother's attic in Moscow, for stored-away treasures. But she didn't begin collecting antiques until the early days of her marriage to Carroll Fetherman. On their honeymoon, they bought their first real antique piece, an overlay for which they paid 75c, now valued by appraisers at $50.

While on vacation some time after this first purchase, the Fethermans returned home "broke, but with a car full of antiques." They decided to open a small shop in their home, and from this beginning, The Chimes has grown.

Ruth Fetherman has a complete personal collection of old pattern glass goblets, and Carroll's treasures are calendar plates and coins.

The flood of 1955 destroyed much of the big library of antique books owned by the local couple.

How do you distinguish the real antiques from the "fake?" You read and listen and make mistakes and learn, Ruth Fetherman notes.

"Our goal in collecting and keeping and selling antiques is complete honesty," the Fethermans point out. "And from our love of antiques, particularly local material, has grown a real picture of life in these villages the way it used to be."

The picture of a by-gone day will be very much in evidence when the young governess, the two children and the house-keeper struggle with the ghosts of the past in Friday night's production, "The Innocents," which will begin at 8:15 p.m. in the Southern Wayne Joint School auditorium.

My Sincere Thanks To The Voters of the Fifth Ward, Stroudsburg for electing me your Councilman.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

Who said the snowflakes didn't last? Well, I did, but then I didn't expect to get lost in a blizzard on the way home after I wrote the column, either.

It's time to head south, which is exactly what I'm doing today with two carloads of AAUW delegates — as far south as Philadelphia, that is. Talk about a busman's holiday! A series of meetings, all of them, no doubt, exhorting us all to do or die for higher education is all I need.

It's no wonder I have such a sense of inadequacy. Club speakers usually have a "message" which seems to be aimed directly at me. Women should take a more active part in politics. Women should make flower arrangements artfully combining line, color and proportion.

Visit your schools and know what they are doing. Develop your creative talents by painting or sculpturing. Make your own Christmas presents by learning how to enamel copper. Here are books on the "must" list this winter.

Join a physical fitness class. Keep up with world affairs. Write your congressman. Volunteer for community service. And then, usually, to cap the climax, comes one who says "Don't fritter away your energy. Learn to relax and enjoy each moment". Heh!

The trouble is, all of them are probably right except most of us are one person, indivisible. However, all of them are jobs worth doing, and I do feel for the ones responsible for getting somebody to do them.

By way of contrast — Mary German was walking a foot off the ground the other day. As neighborhood Girl Scout chairman for Stroudsburg she's been coaxing, bullying and black-mailing women into being leaders when all of a sudden she got a telephone call from a woman who said, "I haven't enough to do, and love working with girls. Do you have a place to use me?" Did she!

You know, if everybody would do that — volunteer for the job they'd really enjoy doing — things would zoom and maybe all the speakers at all the meetings wouldn't look so accusingly at ME.

Meeting Postponed

The open meeting of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals scheduled for next Tuesday has been postponed for several weeks. Members will be notified and there will also be public notice of the new meeting date.

Rinse a can of shrimp (after draining) with cold water; chop and mix with coarsely grated cucumber and mayonnaise for a delicious teatime sandwich. Flavor with a little onion, if you like.

Stroud Community Club Samples Holiday Foods, Know-How from Mrs. Miller

With the guest speaker also bringing the refreshments, members of the Stroud Community Club were more than enthusiastic about the program on "Holiday Foods" presented by Mrs. Robert A. Miller at their meeting Thursday night at the YMCA.

Beginning with a floral centerpiece of fall flowers and wheat in a gold-sprayed basket, Mrs. Miller not only gave many unusual recipes for holiday foods but also many decorative tricks to make that food seem even more glamorous.

Food prizes were awarded during her informal and entertaining talk and she also provided the hors d'oeuvres which served as refreshments following the meeting.

Mrs. Lester Katz presided at the business meeting when final plans were announced for the Hawaiian Holiday Dance to be held at the Penn-Stroud Hotel on Nov. 18. It will feature Sammy Canova's band. Table reservations may be made with Mrs. Walter Olenick and Mrs. Robert Davenport. Tickets will be sold at the door but members were asked to return ticket sales to the committee as soon as possible.

Mrs. W. Lawrence Clugston reported 100 per cent participation by project team members in the recent rummage sale, one of the most successful ever conducted by the club. Another rummage sale will be held in March with Mrs. J. Paul Hart and her project team in charge.

In other business, the members voted a contribution to Latin American Scholarship Fund of the General Federation. They also agreed to participate in the Uterine Cancer detection program, co-sponsored by the American Cancer society and the General Federation of Women's Clubs. A future program will be devoted to cancer education, Mrs. William Morgan, program chairman, announced.

New Rooms Open For Club Monday

The Woman's Club of the Stroudsburgs will have its first meeting in the newly-decorated club rooms in the Stroud Community House on Monday beginning with a tea at 1:30 p.m. Mrs. H. Burton George, Mrs. William Wallace and Mrs. Laura S. Thomas are chairmen of the hostess committee.

Guest speaker will be Christie D. Shull, attorney and executive vice president and Trust Officer of the Monroe County Security Bank and Trust Co. whose theme will be "Teaching Your Dollars Cents."

The holidays will be marked by "Bless This House" sung by the club with Mrs. William Hannas as accompanist. Mrs. Morris Evans and Mrs. Jesse D. Pierson will be in charge of the opening exercises and Mrs. Edward C. Hess will preside at the business meeting.

There will be a display of Christmas greeting cards arranged by Miss Margaret Mutchler and Miss Ruth E. Howlett, as well as the trays and notepaper of the Mansion House by the ways and means committee, Mrs. Gerald E. Shanley Sr., Mrs. Steward Swartley and Mrs. Donald Robbins Sr.

A large crowd is expected since their club rooms have been renovated. The committee in charge of the re-decoration has been: Mrs. Paul Lloyd, chairman; Mrs. Arthur M. Slee, Mrs. Margaret Mutchler, Mrs. Olive Bond, Mrs. Harold R. Flagler Jr., Mrs. William Hannas and Mrs. Hess.

World War I Barracks, Aux. Plan Banquet

At the meeting of the auxiliary to World War I Memorial Barracks 223 at the Legion Home in East Stroudsburg, plans were made for the banquet with the men of the barracks on Nov. 15 at Heddy's Hawaiian Room, Echo Lake. Tickets may be reserved by calling the president, Frances Ransberger, HA 1-4137.

Plans were made for a Christmas party for the auxiliary on Dec. 13. Names were drawn for Christmas gifts.

The auxiliary also voted a donation for the World War I men living in the Soldiers and Sailors Home in Erie. The attendance prize was won by Regina Weller and refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Add a teaspoon of curry powder to a standard recipe for biscuits; serve the biscuits piping hot with butter as an accompaniment to a fruit salad topped with grated fresh coconut. Nice for that Ladies' Lunch!

Man, Not Party, Attracts Voters, Election Proved

Attorney J. Joseph McCluskey was the guest speaker when the Democratic Women met on Wednesday night. Summing up general political matters, he cited examples from Tuesday's election, calling attention to the obvious fact that many people split their ballots.

This is evidence that the vast majority of people know how to use the voting machine, he pointed out, and also indicates that people are voting for the man rather than the party.

Mrs. Willita Rogalski, club president announced a meeting of the state convention committee to be held Monday night, Nov. 13, at 8 in the offices of Harold C. Edwards, Stroudsburg. All interested clubwomen are invited.

The final date for making returns on the club's current project are due at the December meeting, it was announced. Members also voted to exchange 50 cent gifts at that meeting in addition to providing socks for distribution by the Salvation Army.

Grace Fellowship Will Conduct Home Service

The Youth Fellowship of Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg, will conduct services Sunday in the Monroe County Home at Kellerville. Rev. William Wunder has arranged with Mr. and Mrs. Haney, Stewards of the Home, to have the teen-agers of the parish lead in Sunday night's worship service for the many guests of the institution.

Misses Judy Coleman and Georgianna Hines have been placed in charge of the assignment of the various parts of the service to members of the Youth Fellowship. Brian Farris, president, said last night that the group of young people will gather at the church at 7 o'clock on Sunday night.

Last Sunday a service was conducted at the Monroe County Jail by the Youth of Grace Church with Pastor Wunder and William Griffin participating in the leadership of the service. Participating last Sunday night were Miss Sandra Mering, Miss Linda Bosman, Miss Amy Wunder, Clayton E. Heimbach, Jr., Robert Heller, Jr., Brian Farris, Miss Sally Garris.

It is expected that the group of twenty teen-agers will be increased for tomorrow evening's service.

Clearview School Open House Mon.

Open House will be held at the Clearview Elementary School starting promptly at 8 p.m. on Monday. The program, directed for adult attendance, is on the theme "Your Child, A Challenge for the Future."

Parents will visit their children's rooms to observe what is being taught and to hear the teachers explain the curriculum program of the individual grades.

Mrs. Chester Miller, PTA president, has asked that anyone interested in joining the curriculum study committee give her their name at the meeting or call her at HA 1-5600.

This meeting will also be the last opportunity for parents to pay PTA dues since there will be no December meeting.

A meeting of the executive board has been called for 7:15 preceding the open house.

The Wyckoff Shopper

"The Friendly Store" A.B. Wyckoff STROUBSBURG, PA.

To a person geared for moving and thinking at a steady pace, one of the hardest lessons to master in the world of merchandising is the necessity for speed . . . speed in turnover, speed in making decisions, speed in accepting new ideas. It is splendid if the customer is content to "live and buy" according to the calendar; but the designer, the manufacturer, the merchant and his buyers must race along at half again the pace of the average individual. Even those of us who accept the fact are sometimes amused by it, as I always am when we travel into New York on a brisk Fall night, complaining of drafts and chills, for the purpose of previewing Spring ready-to-wear.

This year's trip occurred on Election Day, with Bill Wells, our fashion merchandising manager, as host, and our party including Carrie Rusk and Arlene Vaughn of Sportswear; Marlena Andrews, the artist of our advertising department; and myself. In New York we dined with our President, Holt Wyckoff, who had been spending several days in the city, and were joined by Doris Hinton, our jewelry buyer. At the show, in our Kirby Block Buying headquarters, we met Mardee Albert of dresses. I mention these names so you will see how closely our merchandising departments work together, and how management tries to keep Advertising well informed, so that our staff can present to you a better understanding of our store's efforts to bring you the very best in quality and style at every season of the year.

While the picture for Spring 1962 is still incomplete, and cannot be regarded as "ready for delivery" until the last word is in from all the world's principal fashion centers, it is undoubtedly going to be a season of great femininity and charm. Colors will be as numerous as before, but perhaps not quite so vivid. True, there were brilliant Greens, Oranges, and Reds, but there were also many softer colors: Apricot again, rather "watered down" and mellow. More flattering, it seemed to me, than last year's version. One color group, listed as Prelude Pink to Melody Melon, showed no true pink at all, but an indefinable shade that favored Peach. Another grouping was Ballad Blue to Aqua Serenade; a third, Lyric Lime to Lieder Jade, and a fourth, Beige. There was also a group comprised of Headline Colors, U.S.A.—traditional Red, White, and Blue.

One rather disquieting note was the commentator's reference to a "return of the military influence" in fashion. We see this in such styles as the Navy fleece Officers' Coat, sharply lined in Red and buttoned with a double row of gleaming brass buttons. We noted it too in an Oleg Cassini knit costume of white wool with one breast pocket and two hip pockets, all brass-buttoned.

Fabrics are marvelous this year. Most of them are nubby, looped, or otherwise or three-dimensional. Some have myriad loose threads that look like a woman's eyelashes, and actually form as much pattern on the surface of a fabric as a print would do. Most of the sheaths were softened with a blouson-type bodice, usually belted with a casual tie of the same material. And there were jackets!—the beloved, perennial Chanel type, braided or banded in contrasting color; the bandolero; 16-inch boleros; and fingertip length. Many costumes have 7/8 coats, and most of these are lined with a print that repeats the dress trim or bodice. When a skirt is pleated, it is usually generously full, deep folds of material adding movement to the silhouette as one walks. Many skirts, both separates and the skirts of dresses, are wrap-around or side draped. One stunning dress, with a front-belted bodice, had an unbroken line down the U-shaped back. The A line was the predominant line shown, which is good, for it flatters most figure-types.

Narrow fringes, usually of the same fabric or in a perfectly matched color, were used everywhere—on sleeves, at waistlines, on the edges of graceful stoles. One sheath dress was given the look of a two-piece ensemble by the use of matching black fringe to create a bolero effect on the bodice.

CLOTHES DON'T MAKE the man, and the only way men were represented at the College Women's party was in the skits. College Women Go Dramatic At Hen Party

About 500 women attended the Annual Fall Party, sponsored by the Women's Executive Council of East Stroudsburg State College from which all men, by tradition, are barred. A series of skits was climaxed with cider and doughnuts.

Theme for this year's dramatic goings on was "A Salute to Storybook Land." Each dormitory, including the freshman girls' dorm at the Indian Queen Hotel, presented a skit complete with costumes, narrator and music.

The faculty judges gave the prize for the most outstanding skit to "Romeo and Mildred" produced by students of Stroud Hall; and honorable mention to "Mulberry Street," produced by the girls from Laurel Hall.

Other skits included "Two Nights Before Christmas," "The Three Little Pigs Says Mother Goose," "Cinderella," and "The Legend of Lentil."

Miss Gail Cowan, a junior from Roseland, N.J., was chairman of the party. Miss Margaret Laubner, East Stroudsburg, was hostess to 50 day students at a pot luck supper held in the Day Lounge before the party.

High School Chatter

By Carol Ann Sabinsky

GIRLS' Varsity "S" and members of the Senior Class at Stroud Union High School served more than 3,500 hot dogs covered with three gallons of mustard this year at the home football games at Gordon Giffels Memorial Field.

Nearly 30 students are involved in this operation. In charge of hotdog production are: James Miller, Moniks Borek, Mark DeSanto, and Lois Metzger. Peddling peanuts in the stands are: Tru Hellmann, Carole Anderson, and Carol Ann Sabinsky.

Behind the scenes Miss Sandra Secor, a teacher, with the aid of ESSC student teachers bag the peanuts. Chief coffee-cooker is Pam Tittle, and Tom Fisher is head water-bearer.

Carol Cruise and Pat Burtner serve as bakers for the stand. The official cashier for the project is Charles Monatt. Waiting on customers you will find: Judy Goode, Sandra Jacobs, Judy Riccardo, Rosemary Hart, Pat Dishman, Peggy Heckman, David Haney, and Gordon Sahorik.

The fervent corps of workers is now supervised by Mrs. Joyce Murray, head of the girls' physical education department. She succeeds Miss Lillian Stark who had charge of the concession stand from its beginning in 1940 until last year.

The proceeds are used for senior class and Girls' Varsity "S" projects. These include the yearbook, a school gift, class prom, and equipment and uniforms needed for the extra-curricular club activities in the girls' physical education program.

The profit of the concession stand for the five home games is approximately $500.

Adventists To Join In Prayer Week

AN APPEAL has come from international headquarters of the Seventh-day Adventist denomination, in Washington, D. C., for the Stroudsburg Adventist Church to participate in a world week of prayer, beginning today.

In the face of present world crisis conditions members have been asked to gather each day at their churches, and concern their prayers especially with the following three points: (1) that God hold in check the disasters presently threatening the nations; (2) that his presence be with all Christians in lands where religious persecution exists; and (3) that there be in each individual a revival of that "primitive godliness" experienced by Christ's disciples.

Pastor Bruce J. Fox announced that he would direct these special prayer services each week-day morning between 6:30 a.m. and 7 a.m. He stated that the services will be open to people of all faiths.

The services will be brought to a conclusion at the 9:30 a.m. church service Saturday, November 18.

Separate services will be held each day for the school children, conducted by the teachers.

MDA Aids Patients In Area

JAMES Thomas, Stroudsburg, was presented a hydraulic lift with bathtub attachments by the Carbon-Monroe-Schuylkill Chapter, Muscular Dystrophy Association of America.

The presentation was made by Rev. Harold Engle, of Lehigh, the chapter's patient service chairman.

An order has also been placed for a specially-built wheel chair for Margaret Wetzel, of Pottsville, R. 1, according to Fred Ward Sweltzer, of Lehigh, chapter president.

The chapter has provided many other devices and orthopedic aides to its patients. A wheel chair with tray attachment was purchased for the late Peter Pavlik, of Coaldale, and is now being used by William Starner, of Stroudsburg.

Fred Sweltzer, Jr., of Lehigh, received a hydraulic lift while Mrs. Anna Derrick, of Coaldale, was outfitted with a pair of corrective shoes. Stephen Counterman, of East Stroudsburg, asked and received a cervical collar.

The entire patient service program functions on funds collected through the chapter's annual Thanksgiving Week financial appeal.

An estimated 1,800 volunteers will participate in the door-to-door solicitation at Thanksgiving time.

"POSSIBILITIES for Stroudsburg" will be the theme of Mayor-elect Joseph Small, as guest speaker of Stroudsburg Kiwanis during the club's regular meeting on Wednesday.

Small, a Republican, defeated Hal H. Harris for the post during the general election.

Last week, the club was entertained by a group of teachers from Stroud Union School District who sang a number of songs. Alfred Munson, principal of the school, made the arrangements for the group to sing.

The club extended sympathy to charter member Montgomery F. Crowe in the loss of his wife on Tuesday after a prolonged illness.

Schisler Throwing Grid Banquet

HAROLD SCHISLER, father of East Stroudsburg State College football player Art Schisler, is throwing a party for the Warrior team.

Tuesday night at the Penn-Stroud Schisler is holding a banquet for the players and coaches of the team. He has hired a band for the occasion and has booked American Football League official Gil Castree as the speaker.

The Northampton undertaker, who annually throws a party for the teen-agers of his area and foots all the bills, has a unique philosophy about doing such things.

"The Good Lord has provided me with enough money to be able to help others," says Schisler, "and I've buried too many people to know you can't take it with you."

Schisler is the rare type that does things for others and doesn't seek publicity for his deeds. Schisler refused to sit at the head table at the football banquet because he felt the affair belonged to the players.

Fellman Promoted At Lehigh

Jack Fellman, who quarterbacked East Stroudsburg High School last year, has been moved up to the first unit quarterbacking spot of the Lehigh University freshman team.

Buck Hill Falls has added a Pomalift to its ski facility. The lift, which was invented in 1934 by Jean Pomagalski, a French civil engineer and skier is the first in the Pocono area.

The speed of the lift can be regulated for the type of skier being pulled up the hill.

The Carmen Commune killed in the air disaster at Richmond, Va., Wednesday, is not the boy who plays football for Bangor High School. However, the two boys are cousins.

Tim East, former Bangor High miler, has set a new cross country record at the University of Miami. East cut eight seconds off the old mark.

Kochman Nears Rushing Fame

Halfback Roger Kochman is headed toward Penn State's best individual rushing performance since 1956, when Bill (The Kid) Kane ripped off 530 yards in 105 carries for a five yard average.

Kichman has rushed for 451 yards in 93 carries and a 5-4 average in seven games. Penn State has three games remaining, West Virginia, Holy Cross and Pittsburgh.

Kochman has come on strongly in the Nittany Lions' last three games. He gained 107 yards against Syracuse, added another 107 against California and last week ran for 89 in a losing cause against Maryland.

Ed (Roadblock) Becker, East Stroudsburg State College's Little All-American end, was selected for the Copper Bowl in Arizona but won't be able to play.

The game sends the major college All-Americans against the small college All-Americans. Becker tore a ligament in his left knee in the Warriors' final game against Cortland last week and is recovering in Monroe County Hospital.

Gem City Bowl Candidates

Three other Warriors, end Moe Barber, guard Jack Casselbaum and tackle Russ Rogers have been nominated for the Gem City Bowl at Elre on Thanksgiving.

The game, which features many major college players, pits all-star teams from the East and West. Dick Wolslayer and Sterling Brown represented the Warriors in the game last year.

Texas Will Have Tough Job Keeping Top Rating Today

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Texas' stampeding Longhorns set out Saturday to prove that they are worthy of their No. 1 ranking among the nation's college football teams. They tangle with a stubborn Baylor team that has crushed such dreams in the past.

And Michigan State and Mississippi, a pair of fallen giants in last week's upheaval, hope to begin the climb back.

In between, Alabama, Ohio State and Louisiana State enjoy the luxury of being favorites in their games, as do Colorado, Georgia Tech and Missouri.

Minnesota, not about to give up its national championship, has the toughest job of the day. The fifth-ranked Gophers take on a swift Iowa team, which has lost two in a row, in the Big Ten's top game.

Texas, led by halfback Jimmy Saxton, throws its overwhelming offense and a stingy defense at the improving Bears, who are just getting back into stride after early season injuries.

Offense Leaders

The Longhorns, leading the nation in offense with a mighty 431 yards average, are a 7-0 over-all and lead the Southwest Conference.

Only Daytime Home Show

Cavaliers Favored To Down Eagles

EAST Stroudsburg High School takes on Nazareth today at 2 p. m. in the Cavaliers only daytime showing of the year at Memorial Stadium.

Both clubs are still in the running for the Lehigh-Northampton League crown, so a win today will be important. East Stroudsburg has a 4-1 league mark and Nazareth shows a 3-1 slate. Both clubs have lost to Pen Argyl.

The Cavaliers and the Blue Eagles have been battling in football since 1945 and the Eagles have had the best of everything. Nazareth has won 12 of the meetings and East Stroudsburg three. Last year's 7-7 battle was the only tie in the series.

The Cavaliers won their first game against Nazareth 27-14 in 1952. In 1946, the Eagles handed East Stroudsburg one of the worst beatings in the school's history, 87-0.

East Stroudsburg posted its other wins in 1957 and 1959. The Cavaliers, the highest scoring team in the league, are favored today.

If East Stroudsburg does live up to the favorite role, it will probably have to wait until Thanksgiving to find out how it will finish in the L-N League. Pen Argyl, unbeaten in league play, is in first place and stands little chance of getting knocked off by Parkland, the league's cellar team.

Injured Seniors

It will also be the last home game for co-captains Brian Farris and Earl Metzgar. Metzgar was lost for the season after the Leighton game with a concussion.

Farris sprained his ankle against Hellertown and will be out for at least another week. Farris has been practicing with the team but is not able to run at full speed.

Cavalier coach Jack Kist is not certain if Farris will be ready for the Thanksgiving game with Stroud Union.

Nazareth, which won its first five games, was clubbed 54-0 last week by Northampton and the loss to the Konkrete Kids bothers Kist. He is not certain which way Nazareth will turn after the drubbing.

The Eagles have one of the best backs in the league in Bob Freeman. Many league observers feel that Freeman is a better runner than Jeff Marsh, who won all-state honors for the Eagles last year. Marsh, it is said, could only run outside, while Freeman, a 190 pounder, can go both ways.

Kist will use the same lineup that whipped Port Jervis last week. Van Vleet and Earl Palmer will go at ends, Mike Boushell and Allen Schell will be at tackles and Hank Harris and Kirk Nelson will be the guards. Bob Deiter will be open at center.

Jack Van Horn is the listed quarterback, with Myers and Jim Steele at halfbacks. Harmon will be the fullback.

Slaters, Knights On Road; Pius Faces Port At Bangor

ALL three Slate Belt football teams are in action this afternoon but Pius X is the only team with a home game.

The Royals of Vime Shamanski meet Port Jervis (NY) at Bangor Memorial Stadium.

In other games, Pen Argyl is at Parkland and Bangor goes to Hellertown.

Pen Argyl and Bangor will be taking part in Lehigh-Northampton League games.

The Green Knights lead the league and have a seven-game over-all win streak going. The Green Knights have topped the 30 point or more four times this year and should have little trouble with winless Parkland.

Must Win

Bangor must win its final two games to finish with a .500 season. The Slaters made it hard for themselves last week by losing to a Palmerton team that had lost six games.

Bangor closes its season against Pen Argyl on Thanksgiving.

Hellertown, which has also had a poor season, is playing its last game of the campaign.

The Panthers, who got off to a poor start, have improved with every game and are at their peak now.

Bangor is still without three starting players, Bill Yeager, Ned Oyer and Brian LaBar. Yeager, a half-back and Oyer an end, have broken legs, while LaBar a half-back and quarterback has two fractured vertebrae.

Pius X has not played in two weeks and coach Vime Shamanski feels the rest improved his Royals. However, Port Jervis has a brilliant ground game and Pius, even with a week's rest, will have a tough time stopping halfbacks T. A. Mackey and LeRoy Johnson.

Mexico Builds Stadium For 105,000 Fans

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico, which already boasts the world's largest bullring, soon will have the hemisphere's largest soccer football stadium.

Ultra-modern in every respect, it is designed to seat 105,000 fans and park 7,500 cars. Predicted cost is 90,000,000 pesos or $7,200,000.

To give an idea as to its size: the distance from the front row, on a level with the playing field, to the top row in the grandstand, is about a city block. The opening is set for 1963.

Sponsors hope to have Real Madrid against the 1963 Mexican champion for the first game.

World Championships
And they hope to bring the 1970 world soccer championships to Mexico. One requirement for a host country: a stadium seating over 100,000.

The local stadium, as yet unnamed, is sponsored by three metropolitan soccer clubs, America, Atlante and Necaxa. Don Emilio Azcaraga Milmo, Mexican television and radio executive, is one of the major financiers.

Architect is Pedro Ramirez Vazquez, who also is helping finance the project.

The site is near the famous floating gardens of Xochimilco, in the colony known as Tlalpan, which already has one of the best golf courses in the Americas, the Club de Golf Mexico.

The stadium is so designed that every fan will be protected from rain during the wet season. A transparent plastic top is one of the features.

Box seats, which will handle up to 10,000 fans, will have private bars, rest rooms, other facilities. They are being sold on a permanent basis.

Inside Parking
Parking spaces inside the stadium itself will handle 1,200 cars. Outside, there is room for 6,300 more. Streetcar and bus service will handle the rest of the fans.

And, say the promoters, the stadium should be one of the safest in the world. It is solidly constructed of basic cement.

Clover-leaf style runways lead to various levels and enable the 105,000 fans to make a 15-minute exit in case of earthquake or other disaster.

Although the stadium is designed mainly for soccer football, Mexico's favorite sport, it can also be used for events such as track and field.

And, with such a stadium as a core for its athletic facilities, there are some optimists who predict Mexico may be seeking the Olympics.

Unknown Wins Japanese Open

TOKYO (AP) — Kenji Hosoichi, little known Japanese professional, won the Japan Open Golf Tournament Friday by getting a par 4 on the third hole of a five-way playoff.

The quietest, which included Koichi Ono of Japan's 1957 championship Canada Cup team, had headlocked for first at 283.

Cavalier Tickets
TICKETS for the East Stroudsburg - Nazareth game at Memorial Stadium, will be on sale this morning at Lantz Store, Kresge Drug, Counterman Drug, Lloyd's Sporting Goods and City Cut Rate Drug.

More Than
1 Survivor
Of Contest

JACKSONVILLE, Ill. (AP)—As Mark Twain might say, the recent report that there is only one survivor of Dr. James Naismith's historic first basketball team was slightly exaggerated.

Ernest G. Hildner, 88, of Jacksonville, commented Friday: "Evidently, they must have thought I was dead. There's two of us left."

The still spry Hildner referred to the doings in Springfield, Mass., last week when, at ceremonies marking the 70th birthday of basketball and the 100th anniversary of Naismith's birth, Raymond Kaign was described as "the only living member" of Naismith's "peace basketiers."

Retired Minister
Hildner, a retired Presbyterian minister, said he was the youngest member of the YMCA training school class utilized by Naismith to create the game of basketball as a means of spicing dull winter days in the gym.

"I'm not hurt at being overlooked at the Springfield celebration," said Hildner, an 1893 graduate of the Springfield school for YMCA physical education instructors and secretaries.

"I'd just like to set the record straight that there are two living members of that class."

Pair Elected
To Race Group

NEW YORK (AP)—Stephen G. (Steve) Phillips and E. Roland Harriman have been elected to Harness Writers' Association, it was announced Friday.

Phillips, now retired at Winter Park, Fla., is the inventor of the mobile starting gate.

Harriman, one of the sport's foremost enthusiasts, is co-owner of the Arden Homestead Stable and was a major factor in the creation of the U.S. Trotting Association in 1938. He is a former president of the Grand Circuit.

Mounties' Loney Won't Start Against Powerful Leaders

NOT ONLY does Stroud Union win over Slatington has been slow in responding to treatment. Loney has a bruised left shoulder. Loney will be available for limited duty but Mountie coach Jerry Stulgaitis is not certain how much he will play.

The Lehigh - Northampton League game is booked for Northampton's Stadium at 2 p.m.

Mountie quarterback Warren Loney, injured in last week's 2-19

Ray To Start
Stulgaitis has named converted halfback Henry Ray as his starting quarterback. Ray has never appeared in a game as a quarterback. The Mounties lost their second unit quarterback Glenn Bisbing last month with a torn shoulder muscle.

John Muller, a freshman will win behind Ray at quarterback. Muller has been in for one play of varsity quarterback experience but has held that post in all the junior varsity games.

Northampton has not lost since the opener when Phillipsburg beat the kids 28-27. The kids are averaging more than 40 points a game and in the last three games have scored more than 50 points a contest.

Stulgaitis says his club knows that it has little chance of whipping the Kids but has worked as hard this week as for any game. "The spirit is there," says Stulgaitis, "and until they whip us physically, we'll be in there."

Hebert, Rosburg Trail

Fairfield Still 1st In Texas Event

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — Don Fairfield, a cool customer from Casey, Ill., clutched a two-stroke edge at the halfway point in the $2000 Beaumont Invitational Golf Tournament Friday with a steady one-under-par 70 and 36-hole aggregate of 136.

Troubled with par three holes all day, Fairfield finished strongly for a second sub-par effort to remain in front of Jay Hebert of Miami, Fla., and Bob Rosburg of Portland, Ore., who chased him to a blistering 66 in Thursday's opening round.

Hebert and Rosburg missed opportunities to either tie Fairfield or gain at least one stroke with substandard play on one hole. Hebert reached No. 17 three under par but hit a trap, overshoot the green on his recovery and then missed a six-foot putt for a double bogey five.

putted for a seven.

Rosburg was equally dismayed on No. 6, a par five 535-yard hole. He was trapped to the left of the green, barely reached the fringe with his blast, and then three-

Three Putts
Three strokes off the pace are Beaumont amateur Ray Moore, Pete Cooper of Lakeland, Fla., and Gene Coghill of Penfield, N.Y. Moore posted the best nine-hole tour Friday with a four-under 1 going out for his 70 and a 139 total.

The 140 bracket included such threats as Doug Sanders of Ojai, Calif., Bob Goolby of Crystal River, Fla., and the hometown favorite, Bert Weaver.

Goolby and Weaver had 69 and Sanders his second 70. The field was whittled to include all players with 36-hole totals of 148 or better, taking in 68 professionals and the 10 amateurs with special invitations.

Horizons Opens 2nd Year Sunday

HORIZONS, the WVPO radio station program that deals with education throughout the Poconos, opens its second year on the air Sunday at 3 p.m. Students from the East Stroudsburg State College are in charge of the first program.

The United States Peace Corps will be featured on the first half of the hour long show. Richard Thomas, a Peace Corps Information Officer on leave from Princeton University, will be interviewed by Romayne Cunningham, junior from Newfoundland and president of The World Outlook club and by Eugene Slaski, junior from Bethlehem.

During the second portion of the program, three officers from ESSC's Student Education Assn. will discuss "Your Schools: Time for a Progress Report."

The students are: David Weber, junior from East Stroudsburg, president of the association; Christine Albright junior from Lansdale vice president and Carl Sloat junior from Montrose secretary.

Dr. Alfred D. Sumberg professor of social studies at ESSC, is the co-ordinator and moderator of HORIZONS. A committee of educators from Monroe County and from state college assist him.

The topic of the following week's program will be announced shortly.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

SATURDAY, NOV. 11, 1961

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—In these troubled times it is well to remember Veterans' Day, what it stands for. Do all you can personally to direct others' thoughts toward peace, good will to mankind. That helps.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus)—Fine rays emanate from your ruling planet, Venus, look for false statements, distorted facts which on the surface may appear enticing. Distract the curious for relation to importance of projects.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)—At 11 a.m. breathe a silent prayer for those who fall in any worthy battle. This is a country yearning for peace, about, do your bit. Shun the unnecessary, if useless. Stick to vital tasks.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Excellent indications urge you to change, stand steady, be thoughtful, wise, purpose behind moves, changes. Share your leisure moments with loved ones, family. Top results should accrue.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo)—Let no one discourage you from the attainment of your goal, unless that aim be worthy of you. Lead, take the initiative where you feel it needed. Do not stint at wrong time, go—improving aspects sponsor your rightful duties, work; new insight in the brotherhood of nations.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—Improving aspects sponsor your rightful duties, work; new insight in the brotherhood of nations. Help to increase world understanding in the brotherhood of nations. September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Venus influences approximate those of Taurus. Perhaps more energetic as yesterday, but day does call for greater moments of zeal and stimulus. Even things off keep consistent tempo.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio)—Mars, your special planet, the bearer of good indications. Train your sights on the events of the future, whose import demands attention. Impregnate thoughts of future happiness ahead.

November 24 to December 23 (Sagittarius)—Be sure now, rather than sorry later. Choose objective with a praiseworthy goal. Develop it conscientiously. Nurture new ideas of value till they mature into marketable items.

December 24 to January 23 (Capricorn)—Don't forget that the harder the endeavor, the sweeter the rewards. Your planet Saturn urges patience, forbearance. Handle delicate matters in your natural, unassuming manner.

January 24 to February 19 (Aquarius)—Additional factors that you may not have anticipated. But you can cope with them in your usual efficient, distinctive way. Eliminate useless discussions from the agenda. February 20 to March 20 (Pisces)—The quantity and degree of your effort should be governed by day's requirements. Ascertain them quickly so you can plan day. Be sure you are predicted on, extent and quality of action taken.

Educational Secretaries' 1st Workshop

THE Educational Secretaries of Monroe County held their third monthly meeting recently at the East Stroudsburg Area Joint High School.

Nineteen secretaries were present representing East Stroudsburg Area Joint High School, East Stroudsburg State College, Pocono Mt. Joint High School, Stroud Union High School and County Superintendent's Office.

Mrs. Doris Chaplin, president, was in charge of the business meeting. Following the meeting, the first workshop of the school year was held.

A film was shown with Fred Miller, Public Service Institute, Department of Public Instruction, Harrisburg, in charge. A discussion period followed the film.

The next meeting will be held at Pocono Mt. Joint High School on Dec. 11 at 7:30 p. m. The first workshop of a series of four on Grammar, Composition, and Letter Writing will begin at this time. Miller will be the instructor.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left or right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Social Studies Program Is Termed 'Must'

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the last in a series of articles on National Education Week. They were written by East Stroudsburg Joint School teachers. Today's article, "Look Outside Our Borders," was written by Mrs. Kathleen Butz. It was condensed from the National Education Association's "Your Schools.")

Solutions to technological problems always have been easier than the resolving of human conflicts; hence, the primary importance today of an intensified social studies program. The very existence of the individual depends on his or her control of social environment. This control must be directed along constructive lines—the only alternative to destructive nuclear forces which threaten the world at a time when the rising tide of nationalism is at its peak. It should be remembered that extracurricular activities sponsored by social studies teachers and those in other departments provide opportunities for students to practice concepts developed in social studies classes. Social studies instruction has been markedly strengthened by the intelligent and creative use of multiple teaching aids: recordings, films, slides, television, projections, maps, globes, and charts. Also being utilized for educational purposes are commercial and public service tv, radio news, special broadcasts, the daily press, and adult and youth magazines.

Also contributes Of course, additional reading and research, plus personal contact with individuals outside the school, contribute enormously to a better acquaintance with social problems. Actual travel experience is invaluable in developing understanding and tolerance among persons of different ideological, sociological, political and economic backgrounds. The student exchange program should be encouraged and expanded as rapidly as possible. Young people who have a rich background in social studies develop a sense of personal dedication to free institutions and the ability to detect, appraise, and overcome the enemies of freedom.

Therefore, whether college bound or not, instruction in social studies is considered by many eminent authorities to be a "must" in every year of the junior and senior high school.

Intervention Asked In Church Split

HAMBURG, Germany — Any severing of the unity of the Evangelical Church in Germany as a result of Communist pressure should be answered by opposition from the World Council of Churches, it was declared here by Lutheran Bishop Hanns Lilje of Hannover.

The noted churchman, a member of the WCC's policy-making Central Committee, pointed out that the Council has spoken many times in support of "the cause of oppressed Christians."

"If the Council were suddenly to maintain silence at this point," he said, "one would be obliged to fear that its effort for Christians unity were not genuine."

Bishop Lilje made the statements in Sonntagsblatt, an independent weekly newspaper which he edits.

The remarks came in the wake of recent reports that East Germany's pro-Communist League of Evangelical Pastors has demanded that Evangelical congregations in the Red state sever their connections with the EKD and establish a separate Church in the Soviet Zone.

Church officials in West Germany have said they have no doubt that the East Germany government inspired the move by the pastor's league, which reportedly embraces some 180 of the approximately 6,000 evangelical clergymen in East Germany.

Referring to government pressures to separate the two sections of the country, Bishop Lilje wrote: "Although the unity of the Church—in the sense of the unity established by God through the Holy Spirit mentioned in the Creed—extends beyond the present frontiers of power-politics, nevertheless Christendom also requires visible corporate unity."

He declared "there is not a single reason which a Christian can recognize which could justify an organic separation of the Church in Germany." "Furthermore," he added, "if Christians in Germany are prevented from meeting their brothers... they will be deprived of a simple and fundamental right which is universally recognized as one of the basic human rights: the right to gather in the name of the faith."

Dear Abby

A Lot To Learn!

Dear Abby: What can a 13-year-old girl do about parents who expect her to be polite to them, but who say, "Do the dishes or you'll get your head knocked off!"?

I try hard to please them and I don't mind helping with the housework, but can't they say, "Will you please?"

Dear "Miss Treated": It's a pity more parents don't realize the wonders to be worked through common courtesy with their youngsters. But don't YOU try to teach them. Honey. Just remember it when you have children of your own.

Dear Abby: I have a little problem with a mother-in-law who means well but is not as understanding as she could be. She is a "saver" and has saved all my husband's clothes since he was a small boy. That was 29 years ago. We now have a son who is almost five, and my mother-in-law insists on giving me all my husband's old clothes for my son to wear. They are as good as new, but the styles are old-fashioned, and I don't want to dress my boy that way. We are not rich, but we can afford to buy clothes for our son. My husband doesn't want to hurt his mother and neither do I, but how can we avoid it?

Dear Problem: Accept them graciously, and then quietly pass them on to the Red Cross or the Salvation Army folks who are more concerned with keeping their bodies covered than being stylishly dressed.

Dear Abby: I have been courting a widow for about ten years. She keeps saying she can't marry me until her daughter gets married. Her daughter is 29 years old and hasn't even got a boy friend. My friends tell me that this woman is just using her daughter as an excuse, and has no intention of marrying me. I am 64, own my own home and am in good health.

I want to get married. Should I wait around for this widow who is playing hard to get? Or should I give someone else a chance? I have a couple of women in mind who would say yes tomorrow.

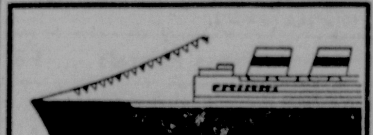

Dear Ten: After enduring a ten-year stall, I'd give the lady about ten minutes to make her mind up. Then give someone else a chance.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of this paper. Enclosed a stamped, self-addressed envelope.
